

News

'Church hosts fair to help feed Africans'

5th July 2005

SOUTH LONDON GUARDIAN

A little bit of South Africa came to Clapham Common on Saturday when charity Thatu held a Jabula in the grounds of Holy Trinity Church.

The money raised will be used to help some of the poorest communities in South Africa to set up their own food gardens.

Organiser and chairwoman of Thatu Margery Povall said: "Jabula is a south African word meaning to be happy so we made sure our Jabula was fun for all the family. Thatu is all about supporting community garden initiatives in poor south African settlements so our theme was plants, food and gardening."

Vistors were able to try out South African Boerewors sausages, watch bees in a demonstration hive and buy local arts and crafts.

For more information, see www.thatu.org

Reproduced with kind permission of South London Guardian